PRINCIPAL'S FOREWORD

Anand Baharuddin
Principal, MCKK
Co-Organising Chairman MCKK Premier 7s 2019

Assalamualaikum warahmatullahi wabaraqatuh,

Despite the hiccups that we are all facing in these challenging times, we are delighted that the 9th edition of the Malay College Rugby Premier 7s can take place in the grand tradition that has been established. On behalf of all the students, teachers, parents and alumni of Malay College Kuala Kangsar, we welcome all participants, officials and guests to our hallowed grounds. This year we warmly greet two international teams that will make their tournament debut – Shizuoka Seiko Academy, Japan & Agoal Rugby Academy, Sri Lanka.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank all our sponsors, big and small, most notably Bank Muamalat Malaysia Berhad, Gamuda Berhad and Tenaga Nasional Berhad. Without their active commitment and participation, this tournament may not reach the standard that everyone has come to expect.

Recently, Malaysian rugby teams have performed creditably at the international level. Marked improvements have been recorded at the senior level as well as the various age group levels. All credits go to the Malaysia Rugby Union through their systematic National Rugby Development Programme. We at MCKK would be happy enough to note that a number of these national squad members could have gained some valuable experiences while competing in one of our eight previous editions.

As we approach the last two editions before completing a decade of MCKK P7s, we should start to reflect and think of the way forward for this tournament. A much younger tournament – only three years old: the World Schools Sevens u18 tournament – is already making good strides. Perhaps, MCKK P7s u17 could be elevated to be a qualifying tournament, or even, if granted, to be a platform to form a combined team from among the best that our region can offer. Food for thought for the future, but in the meantime, let's celebrate the present with a good competitive but sporting showcase of rugby talents.

MESSAGE FROM THE MCOBA PRESIDENT

*Tunku Dato' Ahmad Burhanuddin
President
The Malay College Old Boys Association*

Assalamualaikum warahmatullahi wabaraqatuh,

The Malay College Kuala Kangsar Premier 7s Rugby Tournament is the ninth in the series and we are anticipating another wonderful weekend of superb rugby played by premier rugby schools.

The MCKK Premier 7s Rugby Tournament under the patronage of His Royal Highness of Sultan of Perak is without doubt the most prestigious school rugby tournament in Malaysia. The objective of organising this tournament is to encourage the revival of the game of rugby among participating schools and to assist in shaping the development of the game.

On behalf of the Organising Committee, it gives me great pleasure to announce that 2018 champions Sekolah Menengah Sri Mersing will return to continue where they left off last year. Joining the international line-up will be Shizuoka Seiko Academy from Japan and AGoal Rugby Academy from Sri Lanka.

This is a national interest as it involves teams from Malaysian premier schools, and the state champions. On the local front, Tunku Mahkota Ismail Sports School (SSTMI), champions in 2016 and 2017, and host MCKK, the 2013 winners, will be among the 24 elite teams vying for the coveted Dato' NJ Ryan Trophy.

I take this opportunity to record my appreciation to both organising committees, the All Black Revival (ABR) Committee of The Malay College Old Boys Association and the host, The Malay College Kuala Kangsar, its staff and the involvement of those from the local authority.

This year, I am proud to announce that we are getting the support of the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Youth and Sports. It is the beginning of years of good relationship ahead.

Organising a mammoth tournament like this could never be accomplished without the generosity of friendly sponsors which is led Gamuda Berhad, Bank Muamalat Malaysia Berhad and Tenaga Nasional Berhad who is the Major Sponsors and we are looking forward for a continuous supports from all of them.

We hope all participants and Kuala Kangsar folks will be thrilled with the carnival-like atmosphere during the MCKK Premier 7's 2019 Rugby tournament.

On behalf of MCOBA, I welcome you all to MCKK grounds to witness this yearly tournament and be part of this MCKK Premier 7s Tournament and may the best team wins.

Warmest Regards.

MESSAGE FROM THE ABR COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

ALL BLACKS REVIVAL

*Roslan Hassan
ABR Chairman
Co-Organising Chairman MCKK Premier 7s 2019*

Assalamualaikum warahmatullahi wabaraqatuh,

On behalf of the All Blacks Revival Committee, it is again my honour and pleasure to welcome all participants to the ninth edition of the MCKK PREMIER 7s 2019.

This year sees the participation of two international school teams and twenty two top local teams from around the country. We wish to thank all these teams for kindly accepting our invitations.

Today, we are once again proud to be part of the MCKK Premier 7s 2017 Rugby Tournament under the patronage of His Royal Highness the Sultan of Perak, DYMM Paduka Seri Sultan Nazrin Muizuddin Shah Ibni Sultan Azlan Muhibbuddin Shah AL-Maghfurlah, as we have always been since its inaugural 2011 event.

Organising such a tournament could never be accomplished without the generosity of our sponsors. We wish to thank the Government of Malaysia, Ministry of Education, and the Ministry of Youth and Sports and our sponsors for their continuous support and Old Boys who have contributed generously to our success in organizing this tournament.

We are indeed thankful to Mr Anand Baharudin, the Principal of MCKK, his passionate staff and very enthusiastic students for their relentless and undying support. The involvement of 150 students who volunteered as crew members and over 30 staff members participating in various sub-committees certainly speaks volumes on their commitment.

Our appreciation also goes to all the Kuala Kangsar Local Authorities who have given their assistance.

My personal gratitude goes to the ABR committee members who have been taking their family time to secure tournament success.

Apart from enjoying the games during the tournament we hope the supporters and spectators too will be thrilled with the carnival events that have been laid out. Amongst them are the variety of items from the merchandise stalls and delicacies from the Kuala Kangsar food court.

To all participants, I hope you will take the opportunity to make new acquaintances and widen your social network which will be a blessing in your future working life.

Have a great rugby weekend.

The King's Pavilion of Kuala Kangsar

by Helmy Had Sabtu
Crotalus FSV82

On a knoll besides the Kangsar River, just across from Kuala Kangsar Town, there is a hundred year old building which formerly hosted the primary school of The Malay College Kuala Kangsar (MCKK). The building, designed in the Victorian revival style of classical architecture, was originally the Residency of the British High Commissioner to the Federated Malay States (FMS) and hence was known as The King's Pavilion of Kuala Kangsar.

Sir John Anderson, the British High Commissioner (1904–1911), was responsible for the construction of the King's Pavilion while Mr Arthur Benison Hubback, the then Architectural Assistant to the Director of Public Works Department (PWD) of the Federated Malay States was the architect in charge of the project. Mr Hubbard had also designed MCKK's Big School and Prep School buildings as well as other prominent buildings at the turn of the 20th century such as Kuala Kangsar's Masjid Ubudiah, Ipoh's Railway Station and Kuala Lumpur's Municipal Office and Town Hall as well as its General Post Office, Railway Station and Masjid Jamek.

Construction of the King's Pavilion started in 1905 and took two years to complete. Upon its completion in 1907, it hosted many an official function whenever the High Commissioner is in town for the next forty years or so ... However, the Second World War (WWII) changed the British Empire forever - the King's Pavilion of Kuala Kangsar included.

During the War, the King's Pavilion was taken over by the Japanese Army for both administrative and "other" purposes. Post-WWII, the British Military Administration accordingly took control of the King's Pavilion. However, political developments in Britain and in the then Malaya resulted in the premises not being used as the Residence of the High Commissioner again.

During the Conference of Rulers, held on 31st August 1948, the Malay Rulers expressed their wish for MCKK to be expanded in terms of its capacity to take in additional students and that the King's Pavilion to be taken over by MCKK so as to provide additional classrooms and dormitories. In 1950, the King's Pavilion accordingly became a part of MCKK hosting its newly created primary school arm.

During this period of its existence, a notable resident of The King's Pavilion was one Mr J. A. B. Wilson who later became a world famous novelist who published under the name Anthony Burgess which is actually his second and third Christian names. Amongst his more famous works are A Clockwork Orange and The Malayan Trilogy. The first novel of the Malayan Trilogy, Time For A Tiger, was actually his first published novel of fiction and it is widely accepted that the said work was loosely based on his experiences in Kuala Kangsar.

Here is an excerpt from Anthony Burgess' 1987 autobiography - Little Wilson and Big God :

"It was beautiful enough; an ample structure of Victorian age, and the view from its verandas was sumptuous. It looked down on great trees and gardens ... beyond was the confluence of rivers; beyond again the jungle and the mountains. But the gorgeousness of the vista was inadequate payment for the responsibility imposed on us. We inhabited what was in effect a huge flat, cut off, but not cut off enough, from the classrooms and dormitories of the school. At the beginning of the school year weeping Malay boys would arrive with their mothers and fathers, who would stay a night with them and try to stay more, and prepare to be turned into sophisticated collegians. They know no English, and this had to be taught by Mr Gawthorne and Mrs Vivekananda. When lessons were over they made much noise ... I had to harangue these young boys in good idiomatic Malay and, though I was learning fast, I was not able to learn it fast enough".

MCKK's primary classes were discontinued in 1957 and as the distance between MCKK's main campus and the King's Pavilion campus being logistically challenging, it was decided to return King's Pavilion to the Government. In 1961, the King's Pavilion was accordingly handed over to the State Education Department to be used by the then Government English Girls School (GEGS) in exchange for, amongst others, land then hosting the GEGS campus located adjacent to MCKK's main campus. Subsequently, GEGS was renamed Sekolah Menengah Kebangsaan (SMK) Raja Perempuan Kelsom.

Should you have the time while in Kuala Kangsar, do visit the historical SMK Raja Perempuan Kelsom which is occupying the building formerly known as the King's Pavilion of Kuala Kangsar.

MCKK World Scholar's Cup: Our Journey to Success

by
Members of MCKK World Scholar's Cup teams 2019

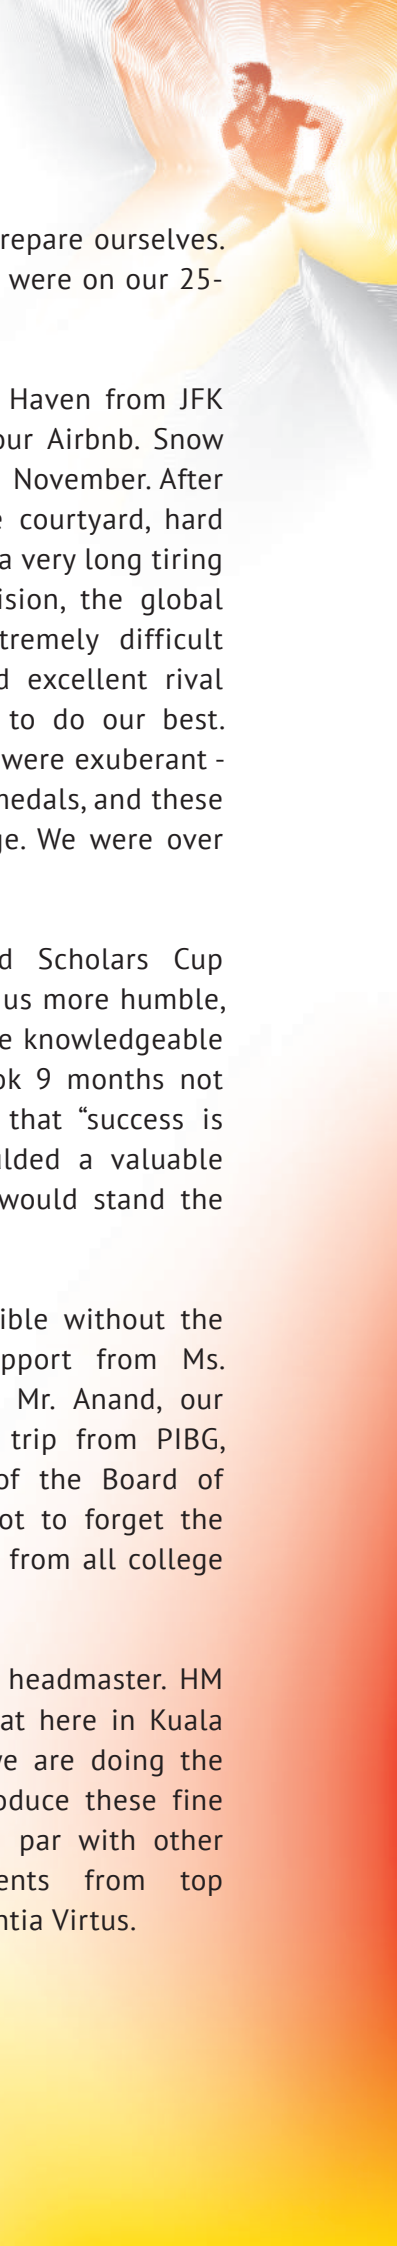

“We never thought we would get this far.”

Back in 2016, Adlan Haziq, then a Fourth Former, did well enough to qualify from the Penang Local Round of the World Scholar's Cup (WSC) to compete in the Bangkok Regional Round and returned with 1 gold and 2 silver medals. Although Adlan, whom many old boys would remember as the impressive Form 1 boy who spoke in the auditorium on the day we celebrated Prep School's centenary, did not qualify for the penultimate Global Round, he at least had paved the way for the 2018 team.

The WSC is perhaps the most prestigious and challenging global co-academic competition, involving multiple events that are based on a specific syllabus across six subjects, namely Science and Technology, Art and Music, Social Studies, Literature, History and Special Areas. The competition comprises of four sections: Team Debate, Essay Writing, Team Quiz and Individual Test. The questions and debate motions revolve around an annual theme. The theme for 2018 was “An Entangled World”. We, like most other ignorant teenagers, were dumbfounded at first. Slowly, after studying the syllabus, we began to understand the complexities that man create that have turned our world into “An Entangled World”; serious heavy stuff.

Early in 2018, Muhammad Luqman Nawar, MCKK top English Language debater even only at Form 4, asked Ms Sharifah: “Why don't we try to reach the WSC Global Tournament of Champions at Yale University?” From then on, the real journey began.

Lugman's first task was to successfully convince five others so that MCKK can submit two teams of three members each. Ahmad Adam (F4), Alif Daniel (F4), Faiz Syafie (F4), Hilman Irfan (F3) and Mikhail Taufiq (F2) were roped in. With the Penang Local Round only a few weeks away, an intensive training was necessary. We organized daily discussions regarding the six WSC subjects and held mock debates to prepare for Penang as best as we could. Our efforts on that 31st March 2018 were rewarded with 21 gold and 24 silver medals collectively (no bronze medals are awarded in WSC). We have exceeded our own expectations and the great news was that all six of us have qualified for the Regional Round in Melbourne, Australia.

Melbourne was to be in mid-August. With a lot of things on our plate such as orchestra training, PPM debate preparation and other commitments as well as our studies, we had to find a way to deal with all those. Our beloved Ms Sharifah decided that it would be a strategic approach to do extensive research on the topics and create booklets on each subject. Equipped better than before, we headed for Melbourne in solidarity, brotherhood and passion.

The Melbourne Convention and Exhibition Centre (MCEC) was the venue for the Regional Round. This time, we were facing tougher competition so we had to double our efforts studying and debating better than before. Our efforts paid off as our medal haul doubled! We bagged in total 48 gold and 16 silver medals! For the first time ever, MCKK will be represented in the penultimate round – the Global Tournament of Champions at Yale University, USA. More good news, all six of us and both teams will travel to New Haven.

Knowing that this round was the ultimate, we had to prove to everyone that all our sacrifices and hard work will keep the college flag soaring high. Being an expensive trip, we had to make it worthwhile for ourselves and to not let people down. We improved our flawed booklets with additional highlights and notes so the syllabus would be at the tip of our fingers. We were given some time off from school to prepare ourselves. Days passed and eventually we were on our 25-hour journey to Yale!

After a 2-hour drive into New Haven from JFK Airport, we just collapsed in our Airbnb. Snow greeted us the next morning in November. After a brief snowball battle in the courtyard, hard work began in earnest. Despite a very long tiring trip and only one day of revision, the global finals commenced. Facing extremely difficult questions, debating topics and excellent rival students, we were committed to do our best. When the results came out, we were exuberant - hauling 14 gold and 30 silver medals, and these at the penultimate global stage. We were over the moon to say the least.

All in all, the overall World Scholars Cup experience was one that made us more humble, more disciplined and a lot more knowledgeable by the end. A journey that took 9 months not only convinced us to believe that "success is not impossible" but also moulded a valuable relationship between us that would stand the test of time.

This wouldn't have been possible without the help, encouragement and support from Ms. Sharifah, our teacher advisor, Mr. Anand, our headmaster, sponsors for the trip from PIBG, MCKK Foundation, members of the Board of Governors and our parents. Not to forget the emotional support and prayers from all college boys and teachers.

We end with a note from our headmaster. HM Anand is contented to note that here in Kuala Kangsar, we have done and we are doing the right things to mould and produce these fine young gentlemen who are on par with other exceptionally talented students from top institutions globally. Fiat Sapiencia Virtus.

GETTING TO KNOW YOUR SPORTS DRINK

Thirsty? After an active and powerful workout, do you go for a sports drink or an energy drink? In this edition, we'll help you find out.

ROLE OF ENERGY DRINKS

Healthy adults can include energy drinks in a balanced diet, as a "pick me up" like coffee, if taken in moderation. The concern is that energy drinks may be over-consumed or mistaken for sports drinks or soft drinks by consumers.

ROLE OF SPORTS DRINKS

Sports drinks are specifically formulated to enhance hydration and optimise sports performance. Studies support the performance enhancing benefit of sports drinks for exercise lasting anywhere from 30 minutes in duration. Consumption of sports drinks post exercise promotes rehydration and glycogen replenishment.

HOW TO TELL THEM APART?

An ideal sports drink has three important criteria.

CARBOHYDRATES

Important in any sports drink as it helps your body to create energy to keep it going.

An optimum level of carbohydrates in a sports drink is typically 6%.

ELECTROLYTES

Sodium is an important electrolyte which can help optimise hydration.

Try checking whether your drink contains sodium from the nutritional facts chart.

NO CARBONATION

Carbonation provides the fizzy gassy feel of a drink.

Carbonation typically increases risk of gastrointestinal discomfort, directly impacting sports performance.

G GATORADE

NON-CARBONATED WATER • No stomach discomfort to disrupt your game.

6% CARBOHYDRATES • Provides the right amount of energy without making you feel heavy.

SODIUM • Keeps fluids in your body and maintains the desire to rehydrate.

POTASSIUM • Prevents cramps and decreases muscle fatigue.

THE MALAY COLLEGE
ASSOCIATION

Zaharuddin Alias

by
Aziz Chonot
Class of 70

No one in Malaysian rugby was more skilful than Zaha during his era.

Zaharuddin Alias, who played first team football and rugby for the Malay College in the early 70s, succumbed to pancreatic cancer last November. His batch-mate in school and team-mate in the MCOBA rugby team, Aziz Hassan, recalls the brilliance that was Zaha on every field he stepped onto.

No one in Malaysian rugby was more skilful than Zaha during his era.

He was the kind of talent that surfaced once every many years and his abilities on the sports field shone from the time the boys were in Prep School at the age of 13.

Zaha, as he was widely known, wasn't one of the bigger or taller boys but his sublime skills in football and rugby meant that he could get past his markers effortlessly.

Rugby was new to probably all of the 86 innocent kids at the 1966 Prep School but even here Zaha was already displaying his side-stepping skills that were such a delight to watch and left those who thought they could tackle him bewildered. That he more like glided as he ran upfield made it all the more special, in the process hardly breaking his strides.

Zaha made it to the football First XI in 1970 as a 17-year-old and stayed there as the chief striker for the next three years but rugby was something he decided to be involved more seriously on making the First XV from lower six.

Old boys first noticed his skills as an inside centre during the annual school versus old boys game in 1972, in a year the students approached the game determined to knock the old boys off. A few boasted that they were going to play like the French, who in those days were famous for the way they attacked from all parts of the field as they chucked the ball around in an unconventional way.

The First XV beat the Old Boys alright, with Zaha's sidesteps the main talking point after the game. The skills Zaha had were to shine again a few months later during the two games the First XV played on two consecutive days at the University of Malaya ground a week before their trip to Bangkok for the annual match against Vajiravudh College. The university boys on the sidelines remarked that this was one boy they wanted in their team the following year, a wish that came true because Zaha was a student there from 1973 to 1976, where he graduated with a Bachelor of Arts upper second class honours.

After graduation he played club rugby for Club X, which later became Anchorman. Zaha was comfortable at playing both positions in the midfield. Tackling was his other strong point and you couldn't recall too many instances when he missed a tackle. Everyone was brought down, including the Kiwis and Polynesian types playing for the Singapore-based New Zealand Forces and those guys were no doubt big and strong.

From club rugby Zaha progressed to play for the Selangor state team and later the national team, participating also in the Hong Kong Sevens and Asian Rugby Championship. This was simply a natural progression for such a player and I have often wondered what he would have been like had he played his rugby in New Zealand, England or Wales, for example.

Playing for MCOBA could have cost him a place in the state and national teams but he took that chance for the love of the school.

There was though a slight hiccup in his playing career when Zaha agreed to be part of the pioneering MCKK Old Boys team formed in 1977 on the initiative of old boy Azizan Abbas (Class of 1964; MCKK First XV 1963/64).

Soon after his transfer as a Customs officer from Penang to Kuala Lumpur, Azizan came to see me at the Malay Mail to ask if I could assist to start a MCOBA team, which I agreed without hesitation. The first player I talked to was Zaha, to whom I said "there will be no MCOBA team without you". Maybe that was a bit unfair considering that he was playing in the senior division and a new team like MCOBA would only be accepted into the second division. And playing in the lower division could affect his place in the state and national teams but Zaha too agreed without reservations. The state and national selectors however could not ignore a player of his calibre and duly selected him as a first choice.

What cut short Zaha's career was a knee ligament damage that the doctors told him after surgery was among the worst they had seen.

Malay Collegians from the mid-60s to early 70s especially, old boys who had seen him play and his mates in the teams he played for have only fond memories and sincere appreciation for the good times Zaha brought to the sport.

Note:

1 – Zaha was also the MCKK deputy headboy in 1972 and together with headboy Ikmal Hijaz Hashim (Datuk) and three other Malaysians participated in the three-month World Campus Afloat programme from October 1971 organised by California's Chapman College on board the Queen Elizabeth 2 vessel. Apart from Malaysia, there were five students each from Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Singapore representing Asia.

2 – Mcob Wan Zulkifli Wan Yusof (Class of 74) and the owner of Keloil Sdn. Bhd., himself an outstanding footballer who also played rugby, is donating a trophy for the Best Malaysian Player of the MCKK P7s, to be named in honour of Zaha with the consent of his family.

(The affection and passion the writer Aziz has for rugby is transferred once or twice into his column at New Straits Times Online.)

REMINISCING CORNER: The Formation Of MCOBA

by Hisham "Spice" Badrul Hashim
Class of 76

An alumni association such as MCOBA (Malay College Old Boys Association) is an association of graduates or, more broadly, of former students (alumni) of an educational institution. These associations often organise social or sports events, network, publish newsletters or magazines, and raise funds for the organisation. Alumni associations are mainly organised around universities or schools, but may also be organised among students that studied in a certain country. In the past, they were often considered to be the university's or school's old boy society (or old boys network). Today, alumni associations involve graduates of all age groups and demographics.

Perhaps, one of the important events in the annals of MCOBA occurred in 1929. It was the year that the Malay College Old Boys Association was formed. It was formed after a gathering of old boys for what is known as the Old Boys Weekend. The following account of their gathering as reported from March edition of the "Times of Malaya" and the "Planters & Miners Gazette".

"...Kuala Kangsar, which is usually a quiet town, compared to its neighbours, Taiping or Ipoh, and which enjoys a quiet sleep on the seventh day of the week was wide awake on Sunday last and on all hands there were signs of new faces and festivity. The reason for this change in the otherwise normal existence of this pretty town in Perak was the decision which prompted the old boys of the Malay College, twenty-four years after its birth, to foregather at their Alma Mater to discuss the formation of, and bring into being an Old Boys' Association.

There were about 150 past students of the College who had come to Kuala Kangsar from all parts of the Malay Peninsula as was broadcast by the number-plates on the numerous cars that swelled the traffic. The magnificent building which houses the Malay College and the land on which it stands were both gaily decorated, all pointing to the fact that it was the 'Hari Besar' of the Old Boys.

A happy atmosphere prevailed and such must be the case when schoolmates who parted eighteen to twenty years ago at the College gates after completion of the education which has sent them out to the world, meet each other, in several cases for the first time. Unforgettable incidents in their school days were recalled, notes were compared as to how they progressed after leaving school, the older boys were introduced to comparatively recent colleagues and stories were narrated by the more fortunate to them who had gone to England to finish their education and come back to enter the Malayan Civil Service. Thus was the time spent till about 10 a.m. when they all gathered in the school hall to discuss and unanimously adopt the resolution which was to give birth to the Old Boys' Association.

After spending the best part of Sunday morning in discussing the pros and cons of an Old Boys' Association, the gathering adopted a more public aspect when the Old Boys were "At-home" before a football match between the Old Boys from the North of Malaya and the South, for a handsome silver cup by that king of Malayan Sportsman, His Highness the Sultan of Perak, whose inability to take part in the day's celebrations was sincerely regretted by all those present.

Tea was served in the dining room and here were gathered nearly two hundred people including the Honourable British Resident of Perak, The Honourable the Raja di Hilir, the District Officer, Mr.T.S.Adams, Mr.Bazell, the headmaster, and several others. The Raja Muda of Perak presided over all the various functions.

After tea an adjournment was made to the ground of the school where the football match was witnessed by even a larger crowd. The match over, the hosts and guests went to their various homes to prepare for the dinner which was held at the College at 8.00 p.m. About 150 people stayed to an excellent banquet, while the State Band, which was in attendance throughout the day, provided the music. The menu was as follows;

Hors d'oeuvre, Tomato Soup, Salmon with Mayonnaise Sauce, Cold Ox-tongued and Salad, Nasi Briani, Mutton Curry, Chicken Musamah, Sambal, Asparagus, Pudding, Fruit, Coffee. There then followed a number of speeches with the Raja Muda of Perak first proposing a toast of the Malay College. He paid tribute to the Rulers of the Federated Malay States through whose support the College came into existence. He continued:

"I mention this because in the old days and even now, you will find that Malay parents are not keen on sending their children to English schools because they have an idea that the teaching of English language may corrupt their Muslim religion. It was Their Highnesses who discredited their belief".

The Raja Muda went on to pay tribute to Mr. Wilkinson and H. Hargreaves who had been given three years to make the school a success. This success had certainly been achieved. The second speech was by Mr. Bazell, the headmaster, who said,

"I have been on a short family vacation. My ticket was looked after by an Old Boy. If I go to the hospital, either the dresser or the doctor or both are old Boys, if I make myself a nuisance I shall get arrested and run in by an Old Boy; my case is certain to come before an Old Boy magistrate and I shall brief the first Malay barrister. In fact, gentlemen, our cargo are miscellaneous and as captain of the ship at present, and filled with the spirits of the future, all this fills me with promise for your old school.

I am one of those who believe that your country can be run by you for yourselves and by yourselves.

I am looking ahead. As a matter of fact there is one sitting among you now who I hope will be the first Malay to qualify as an engineer. The future of the College is good. You have already been told that the first three years were an experiment. I have a minute by the Resident-General: "I do not think it will come to anything but I am willing to give a three year trial." Within two years $90,000 was voted to build the boat. After 24 years__the Old Boys have suddenly realised that they are the one. I accept the omen and as captain of the ship for the present, on behalf of those who made the College and ran the College, including the Old Boys, I thank you all for your wishes for the future."

The Raja di Hilir of Perak proposed the toast to the Old Boys and in part of his speech he made the following important point:

"...there is at present a very great tendency on the part of Eastern people to imitate Europe, whether what they imitate is good or bad, because they have apparently acquired a somewhat slavish mentality being overcome by the glitter of European civilisation. There is an English saying (if I remember rightly) 'that to ape is suicide'. Let us hope that the Malays will only adopt such civilisation as they can assimilate, having due regard to their own customs".

There were further speeches by Tuanku Abdul Rahman, Inche Hamzah, Raja Musa of Selangor and Raja Kamarulzaman. Raja Musa said the delay in forming an Old Boys' Association was to be regretted but the delay was not due to the natural lack of inclination but rather 'that all, or majority of those present are employed in the government service and I think I am right in saying that they imbibed the slow and cumbersome manner in which government moves.."

That worthy account of the first ever 'Old Boys's weekend' (OBW) at MCKK reported by the 'Times of Malaya' and 'Planters Gazette' was the precursor of the formation of MCOBA which resulted into the registration of the Malay College Old Boys Association (MCOBA) later in the year 1929 with Raja Musa Raja Bot as the first President of MCOBA.

Anniversaries are celebrations of journeys. Just like MCOBA's 90th anniversary in 2019. It is a celebration of a journey that started in 1929. What a journey it had been. Through the highs and lows, MCOBA had weathered the constant variables of life. And the journey is nothing short of excellent. It is about embracing the pride, inculcating the passion and living the traditions. It's also about giving back to society and the old Alma Mater. Happy 90th birthday, MCOBA!

You are nearly as old as the old man leading this country and you are still around. The worthy Nonagenarian alumni continues on. A rightful 'Nona Zaman Sekarang!' Let us celebrate this 90th anniversary with a toast remembering the blissful memories and countless moments of pride, passion and tradition.

MALAYSIA REIMAGINED. NOW.

TEMOKIN

Holdings Sdn. Bhd.

A CIVIL STRUCTURE AND ENGINEERING COMPANY

Class A (G7)

Founded in 1989, TEMOKIN HOLDINGS SDN BHD is a general construction and property development company. We specialize in design and construction building projects, highway, civil engineering works and property development.

SETTING THE BENCHMARK FOR SUSTAINABILITY

Malaysian conglomerate Sunway Group which owns 12 business divisions is renowned for developing some of the most iconic townships and establishments in Malaysia. These include Sunway City Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia's first integrated green township and the country's model smart sustainable city; Sunway City Ipoh and the upcoming Sunway Iskandar in Johor.

Spanning more than 5,000 acres across the country, the townships and other integrated developments comprise a host of healthcare, education, retail, hospitality, leisure, residential and commercial entities built on the concept of sustainable development.

Sunway City - A Winning Formula

Developed on rehabilitated mining land, Sunway City Kuala Lumpur was transformed from "a wasteland into a wonderland." This township – which was developed from a barren land of disused and abandoned mining pools – is now home to more than 1.50 species of flora and fauna and a thriving community of more than 200,000 people living, working, studying and playing in a safe, healthy and connected environment.

Sunway City Kuala Lumpur embodies Sunway's vision to be Asia's model corporation in sustainable development, innovating to enrich lives for a better tomorrow.

Sunway Group founder and chairman Tan Sri Dr Jeffrey Cheah AO says, "Not everything that matters can be counted in dollars and cents. An environment where friendships can thrive, families can prosper and communities can form close bonds is not measurable in monetary terms, but is an intangible metric that contributes to quality of life in so many other ways."

Going Beyond "Green"

Cheah's concept of sustainability transcends environmental concerns such as mitigating climate change or helping heal Mother Earth. "Sustainability is not just about the planet. It is also about its people," he stresses.

Sunway is committed to realise the 17 United Nations (UN) Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). It is this commitment that underlies Cheah's approach in making quality education (SDG 1) accessible. He transferred all his equity in institutions of the Sunway Education Group – in perpetuity – to the Jeffrey Cheah Foundation. The gift is currently valued at RM1 billion and the Foundation has disbursed more than RM400 million in scholarships as of 2018. Cheah hopes to disburse more than RM1 billion in his lifetime.

To further underscore its commitment to sustainability, the Foundation in 2016 endowed US$10 million to the UN to establish the Jeffrey Sachs Center on Sustainable Development at Sunway University. It is headed by the world-renowned academic Jeffrey Sachs, who also serves as a special advisor on sustainable development to the UN secretary-general.

Leading By Example

Cheah steadfastly believes that sustainability and profitability can go hand in hand. "At Sunway, we demonstrate that we can do well by doing good. We hope to set an example that others can emulate in this part of the world," he says.

He adds, "I firmly believe that realising the SDGs is not the sole responsibility of governments alone. It requires the commitment of the public and private sectors, academia, civil society and every single individual.

"We are all in this together."

Believe it or not, our Nation has been built by electrons

TENAGA NASIONAL BERHAD (200866-W)

Over 69 years, our commitment to National development has rewarded one and all. Small, medium and large-scale industries have emerged and grown. Malaysians nationwide are now accustomed to the comforts that electricity can provide. We do all this to better lives for a brighter tomorrow.

 TENAGA NASIONAL
Better. Brighter.

When we create a place, we create a personality.

A town can mean so many different things.
When you have great placemaking,
you will undoubtedly have great places.
When we work with the hills and valleys,
to stream water naturally into a series of lakes.
When we lay out the promenade that leads you to the water's edge.
When we craft a majestic waterfall.
We start to develop a personality for the town.

When people begin to move in,
they will experience a real difference.
They will get a feel for the place.
They will want to be a part of it.
